

Marji and Florence Nightingale

Marji is a girl who lived in Iran. She got a lot of struggles during her childhood. Because of the revolution and violation. She saw her uncle dead for no reason. She used to trust god. After that she was lost.

She did not take action for her kindness. She is more like a hero mentally. She wanted to decrease the differences between people. She wanted everyone can own a car. She wanted her maid can marry with the guy who belonged to an upper class family.

Both them were born in a wealthy family. Because of this, they can read more books and get good education.

Both of them wanted to help people. Marji wanted to decrease the social class between people and Florence helped injured soldiers in the war.

Florence

She was a nurse and an Italian. She did not struggle a lot during her childhood.

Her kindness was shown in behaviors. She suggested to open a hospital for injured soldiers. She also took care of injured soldiers during war. Because of her, the social position of nursing was improved.

In a conclusion

Even there is a difference between them. They both have their own way to be a hero